“ Christian was Alden's constant companion for many years, so much so that two cross country family trips included him in the car with us. I watched him grow from riding his bicycle up and down my driveway to rutting his car out in my field. When they hooked my little boat up to the three wheeler and hosted rides up and down the yard I couldn't yell at them. Not because they didn't deserve it, but rather because they were laughing so hard it was hard to keep a straight face. He is at peace now and that is all any of us can ask. Have a good journey C-Dub. See you on the other side.
