May 1, 2025

John Charles Mix, age 93, of Berlin, WI, passed away on May 1, 2025 at Brown Wilcox Assisted Living in Berlin after a brief illness.

John was born in Johnstown, NY on March 15, 1932, son of John E. and Nellie M. (Case) Mix. His family moved to Berlin shortly after he was born. He graduated from Berlin High School and received a college degree from the University of Madison. John had many successful business ventures, some of which included Main Street Restaurant, Waste Management, and Morning Glory Dairy. John served his community as an alderman and on many City committees.

John was known for his daily visits to McDonalds and the library. Having a love for reading, it only made sense that he took a job at the library after retirement. He proudly worked at the Berlin Public Library for 16 years. He enjoyed visiting with patrons and getting many recommendations for books to read. John had a love for many animals, especially dogs and cats. His cat, Tinkerbelle, kept him company for almost 20 years. John had a love for music, which was always playing in the background. In his earlier years, he played the saxophone in a band. John also loved bowling.

John will be remembered for his friendly demeanor and great laugh. He was a friend to many, especially his four-legged friends.

John is survived by nieces, stepchildren and step-grandchildren, and many special friends. He was preceded in death by his parents, one sister, Jean and former wife, Maureen F. (Rodden) Mix.

A private service will be held at a later date. A memorial has been established at the Berlin Public Library.

“ John was my neighbor. Jean and him used to babysit for my sister and I. When I was in high school, he helped with my Math homework. I have many fun memories of him. He loved people and enjoyed visiting. He will be remembered by many.

“ John and I kidded we were the "Senior Staff" at the Berlin Library. He loved the library as much as loved his dear kitty cat, which was beyond measure. His joy for music was contagious, always checking out music CDs in many different genres. His curiosity made him a very interesting person to be around and many patrons enjoyed saying Hello to him. I always felt special when he called me "Kiddo". I will miss you John. Julie Buchholtz
