“ Bill... dammit Bill. I didn't think we were done arguing. or should I say discussing. We sure had some good ones. My Honda Fit caused quite a fit . haha I loved that Bill would give me the business and stood strong in his convictions.

Memories of Bill sauntering up my front steps to hand over a home made pie. Tears run down my face. Bill in his cowboy boots and hat. Bill and Elaine at the Willow. Good times for sure! When Ronald would come in to share fish fry with them both Bill and Elaine would puff out their chest and talk highly of him. As with all the kids! Such pride and love. I have heard some of the stories a few times and ya know what..it never gets old. The love of the family really touched my life. After my son's (Jeremy) accident he lived with me and got to know Bill and Elaine. He loved them . They treated him good. Travis (other son) enjoyed talking with Bill and Elaine too. Sharing food and drinks over the yrs. Family and neighbor's !! Being real. The important things in life...family and friends.

Back in the day when they had their party and the chicken bbq. OMG Such a great time. Bill had such pride in that home and his awesome garden and wife and life! Oh yeah..good times for sure. Him and his bro-in-law made the best dang chicken in the universe! A few more chicken bbq's at the Willow over the yrs. He even got me to try bear balls at Cadillac's Wed. night neighbor feed. Bear meatballs . They were good. Never thought I'd eat bear.. My favorite good ole country boy. I love and respect u Bill. I will miss you but I will never forget the good times and lessons in life.

They just don't make them like Bill Tarr anymore.

“ So many memories. Tears flowing down my face as I type this. Dammit Bill. I had some great (arguments) discussions over foreign cars with Bill. We did not always see eye to eye. haha But, always had a good time. I love this picture. It is so BILL. camoflaug and cap. Ford's and country music and of course the cowboy boots. He used to get so pissed when folks would play something other then country music on the juke box. I can see him strolling up my front steps with a home made pie in hand. He delivered quite a few over the yrs. Then there are memories of the days when he'd cook chickens with his brother -in-law. Best chicken EVER. Oh man... They just don't make em like Bill Tarr anymore. He will be missed by many.. Luv ya Bill and my sincere sympathy to Elaine , Ronald and the whole family. I know how proud Bill was of his family. <3
